Social media guide

Resources for Adobe video partners

With millions of followers on our various channels, Adobe has a strong presence and worldwide brand recognition. Social media is the easiest and fastest way to share news and showcase our partnership. Sharing news gives us all more opportunities to engage across our shared customer communities with increased visibility. Use this guide to maximize your Adobe partnership and extend your marketing reach.

Here are two simple ways to start:

1. Share relevant news and upcoming events on your channels
This is news your customers care about and gives you an opportunity to remind users about your Adobe integrations.
2. Follow the Adobe video social channels
(See below)
3. Include Adobe handles and hashtags in your posts
(See below)

Connect with Adobe on Social Media

What news has the most impact with Adobe customers?

Increase the chances that your news are shared across the Adobe customer communities:

- share news specifically about Adobe integrations
- include an image or video showing your solution together with Adobe tools
- write in conversational language (i.e. not marketing-speak)
- clearly portray it as your news—and do not include any Adobe logos

Use hashtags

Hashtags make it easier to find your news, especially at busy times.

- at events: ?? Previously- #TeamAdobe
- at trade shows: ?? Previously- #NABshow or #IBCshow

Social media best practices

Share news that people care about

In the digital age we can all pick and choose what we want to read or watch. The single most important thing for successful social media is to share information that people will care about. Focus on your customers' interests and they will pay attention to you.

Turn your customers into your community

Respond to your customers on social media. They will appreciate it. Social media helps turn your customers into a community.

Engage your critics

Angry critics can become valuable contributors when you engage with them. If someone is unhappy, ask questions and try to help. It's worth the effort—you are never helping just one person on social media. Everyone watching the exchange will appreciate your input.

Get the most from your post

Here are three tips that will go a long way to achieving success on social media:

- Include images or video
- Retweet (rather than reply) when responding
- Share links to resources and interesting content when possible

Helping each other to spread our news

Share Adobe news to expand your reach and make the most of our partnership!
